About me

I am a dedicated Software Engineer and IT Specialist skilled in JavaScript, React, and PHP. I have experience in front-end development, database management, and backend integration, focusing on responsive design. As a recent graduate of the ALX Software Engineering program, I apply a disciplined problem-solving approach

Education

ALX Tech School

Software engineer & Ai Starter Pack

2023 - 2025

- Developed a comprehensive understanding of software development principles and techniques
- Completed practical projects that strengthened skills in front-end and back-end development, database management, and system design
- Proficient in languages and frameworks such as JavaScript, React, and PHP
- Passionate about creating efficient, user-friendly applications that address real-world challenges
- Emphasized collaborative teamwork and effective communication in project execution
- Cultivated a problem-solving mindset, focused on creating efficient and user-friendly applications
- Acquired a solid foundation in software development methodologies, including Agile and DevOps practices, to streamline project workflows and improve software quality
- I completed the ALX AI Starter Pack, where I learned the basics of AI, machine learning, and neural networks. The hands-on projects gave me real experience and sparked my passion for AI. Now I'm excited to keep learning and growing in the field.
